Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 01 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Another sunny and dry day. Feeling warmer than Monday.

Today:
Another warm and dry day with plenty of sunshine. Becoming breezier through the afternoon, especially along Channel coasts. Warmer than Monday for many although slightly cooler in any wind, especially near coasts. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Tonight:
Heavy, possibly thundery showers arrive over Cornwall during the evening, then spread northeastwards across the region overnight. Easternmost areas staying largely dry throughout. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Wednesday:
A cloudier day with heavy, possibly thundery showers continuing to spread northeastwards. Becoming drier and locally brighter from the southwest through afternoon but feeling cooler than recently. Breezy along coasts. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Briefly cooler throughout this period, with sunny spells but more cloud than recently. Largely dry throughout, but the odd isolated shower remains possible.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.